WWF-Pakistan | Digital Eco-Internship Program (DEIP)

Nominations of Students for “World Without Waste” - Project

WWF-Pakistan offers Eco-Internship Program (EIP) that is open to all students (especially from junior semesters) of The Islamia University of Bahawalpur (IUB), the program aims to train, empower, and mobilize youth on environmental issues through online interactive workshops and community service projects.

Amid the Coronavirus Pandemic, WWF-Pakistan under the program World Without Waste has launched an initiative to inform and engage youth in an action-oriented project. By the end of the program, the participants would not only learn the new concepts and ways of minimizing waste but would be able to practically contribute towards the cause of Pakistan Without Waste. The themes include climate change, natural resource conservation, entrepreneurship, circular economy etc.

Duration: 5 to 6 weeks (Multiple training sessions per week)

Timeline: May to June 2021

Session Mode: Zoom

Benefits for Students:

- 1) e-Certification
- 2) 40 hours of Community Service e-letter
- 3) Mentoring by experts
- 4) Training for developing proposals and execution of Community Action Project

As there is NO Registration Fee for this program; all IUB students in final semester of their degrees and female students are encouraged to apply.

How to Apply:

One page application including short CV must be sent to email (agron.conf@iub.edu.pk) with subject “APPLICATION-World Without Waste-NAME of STUDENT” not later than 31-05-2020. Selected candidates will be informed via email and shared the link for ONLINE REGISTRATION etc.
